

Car washes are a good way to raise money for a charity, but can also have a damaging affect on local streams. If you decide to do a car wash try to find a grassy area where soapy water does not drain into a stream.

